Immerse Yourself

Play your part in preserving the animals of the worlds oldest Rainforest.

Go on responsible treks looking for snares and signs of human presence and poaching in the Rainforest. The information gathered will be given to the relevant authorities to act accordingly.

Explore the famous caves or Merapoh. Locals have taken a strong stand to save these caves from being bulldozed but the threat of turning these amazing limestone caves into cement dust is endless. By showing the world how important these caves are and how much we care about them and the endemic species that live there, we have a chance to preserve them.

Have the opportunity to meet the indigenous Batek Tribe whom live a foraging lifestyle in the forest. You will join the Batek ladies to fish, collect leaves for weaving and even stalk rats.

Spend the night in the jungle for a chance to absorb nature's wonders with its guardians, the Batek.

This experience is truly community based tourism at its best.

Eco-Talks at Your School/University

Did you know that we can host relevant environmental lessons and eco-talks to your students, at your school or via skype?

Our specialties lie in marine and rainforest conservation, but we have a lot of in-house professionals who can provide sessions about many more topics...

ADVENTURE!

Jungle Trekking, caving, abseiling, rock climbing and tubing then cool off in the river.

The beautiful surroundings offer limitless opportunities to explore!
